Outlook

In line with the previous communication done on 25 February, we confirm a very strong sales growth in all regions. Raw material supply remains challenging and causes increasing prices, which forces us to be strict in passing them through to our customers. We are confident that we can offer the same delivery reliability despite current supply conditions.

Our strategic projects, including further investments in our recycling plant in Diksmuide, adding extra production capacity in North America and the commercial launch of Elegant in Europe, remain on track.
